Florida Statutes states it is the duty of the owner of any property to notify the Property Appraiser whenever the use of the property, status or condition of the owner changes so as to change the exempt status of the property. If any property owner fails to notify the Property Appraiser and the Property Appraiser determines that for any year within the prior 10 years the owner was not entitled to receive such exemption, the property shall be subject to the taxes exempted as a result of such failure, plus 15 percent interest per annum and a penalty of 50 percent of the taxes exempted.
